Aaron along with his wife Caitlin, and daughters Avery & Evelyn, own and operate Eaton Holsteins in Syracuse, N.Y. They currently milk several elite type Registered Holsteins and a select group of jerseys. The main objective is developing, marketing, and caring for these special individuals daily, along with an additional 35 head of young stock and dry cows. Their herd currently holds the #1 Rank for BAA in N.Y. and third Nationally. Over the past eight years they have many success stories in the show ring garnering numerous All American and/or All Canadian Nominations as well as having three jerseys go on for new owners to become national champions, seven heifers named Junior Champion or Reserve at World Dairy Expo, or Royal Winter Fair combined and also two Holstein cows named Intermediate Champion or Reserve at World Dairy Expo. In addition to running the farm, Aaron works full time for Rivendale farms as the Genetic Sales Director, marketing and building upon both their showing and breeding programs.

Past shows he had the opportunity to judge include many state and regional shows over the past five years, the Mid Atlantic Jersey show in 2017 and the associate judge of the All-American Holstein show in 2013.

Top five most significant recent judging experiences:

- PA All-American Jersey Show
- PA All-American Holstein Show (Associate)
