J-P Charest has grown up on his family farm in St-Alexandre, QC with the prefix Chaluka. After finishing school with a degree in dairy science from the Agricultural School in La Pocatiere, QC, he started traveling worldwide to fit and work with the best dairy cattle around the world. His work took him around Quebec, Canada, USA, South America, Europe, and Australia.

Now, he and his wife Annick, own and operate Ferme Charest with their four children. They milk 70 Holsteins, Jerseys, and Ayrshires. J-P has bred and sold many animals that were All-American, All-Canadian, and All-Quebec. He has judge many local, regional, provincial, and national shows around Quebec and the US. He thinks the showing is an awesome learning place to be a better all around cowman.
