

Kevin Doeberienner

West Salem, OH

814.573.6982

kdj5033@yahoo.com

Top five most significant judging experiences:

- WDE Jersey Show, Associate Judge 2021
- Atlantic Summer Holstein Show, 2022
- Midwest National Spring R&W Show, 2022
- Midwest National Spring Jersey Show, 2022
- Spring Dairy Preview, 2021

In addition to judging conformation classes, this judge also enjoys:

- Youth Shows
- Showmanship

Born and raised on a registered dairy cattle farm in Crawford County, Pa, Kevin Doeberienner continues his involvement in the dairy industry by owning and operating Queens Manor Farm in West Salem, Ohio. Kevin produces 1,000 acres of corn, soybeans, and hay, and owns K & L Seed Solutions, a corn and soybean seed sales business. Queens Manor's mission is to purchase, raise, develop, and market high-type and deep-pedigreed animals of any breed. In the last ten years, Doeberienner has owned and exhibited several All-American and All-Canadian Holsteins and Jerseys and has garnered numerous other All-American and All-Canadian nominations. In 2021, Kevin, along with partners, exhibited the Grand Champion Red & White Cow at the Canadian National Show. In 2019, Kevin, along with partners, exhibited the Junior Champion Holstein at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair. He also exhibited, the first place Red & White senior two-year-old who went on to be the Reserve Intermediate Champion Red & White Holstein, and the Honorable Mention Junior Champion Holstein at World Dairy Expo.

Prior to owning and exhibiting his own cattle, Doeberienner was a cattle fitter for ten years, traveling to numerous countries to prepare cattle for several exhibitors. Kevin's prior judging experience includes several county fairs and district shows, as well as serving as associate judge at the 2021 WDE Jersey Show and the 2022 Midwest National Spring Red & White and Jersey Show.