James Hoffman grew up on his grandparent's dairy heifer replacement operation in southeastern Pa. He became interested in registered dairy cattle through his county 4-H club at a young age. James is a graduate of the Pennsylvania State University where he majored in animal sciences and agribusiness management. He also completed the Holstein Foundation's Young Dairy Leaders Institute.

James started his career working as a dairy nutritionist in Madison, Wisconsin where he also had the opportunity to work on farms and at shows with numerous show cattle and commercial herds. Currently James is a Territory Sales Manager for Corteva Agrisciences covering Western, Pennsylvania and New York. James shows locally at the All-American Dairy Show and occasionally at World Dairy Expo and attends numerous shows across the county. He breeds animals under his Tumbling Run Holsteins prefix. He and his wife Janelle reside in Slippery Rock, PA with their sons Matthew, Andrew, & Ethan. James has judged many local, district, and state shows throughout the region.
