

Jordan Siemers

Newton, WI

920.946.8525

jsiemers@selectsires.com

Top five most significant judging experiences:

- Opportunity to judge overseas
- Successful Collegiate Judging Resume

In addition to judging conformation classes, this judge also enjoys:

- Youth Shows
- Showmanship

Jordan Siemers has had a lifetime of experience in the dairy industry, having grown up on his family's dairy in Newton, Wis. Siemers Holsteins is synonymous with elite, homebred genetics. Siemers has had great success in the showring and has earned multiple Junior All-American and All-American honors. Siemers has been the genomic and genetic manager for the herd since 2009 and has been instrumental in developing elite bulls.

Upon his graduation from Cornell University, Siemers joined the Select Sires team, and now serves as a Holstein Sire Analyst. His territory consists of 26 states in the US. and the Eastern half of Canada. Polled coordination and Milking Shorthorns are also part of his responsibilities. Siemers resides in Newton, Wis.