Chad Steinberger grew up on his family's Registered Holstein farm in Windthorst, Texas under the Tex-Stein prefix. He enjoys judging all breeds, especially Holsteins and Jerseys. The highlight of his judging career was having the opportunity to judge the State Fair of Texas, a show that he showed his own Registered Holsteins at as a youth. Chad and his family continue to operate Tex-Stein Dairy, home to 1,150 Registered Holstein cows and 800 heifers. They show their herd throughout the Texas and Oklahoma, as well as in the northern states.

The Tex-Stein herd has had numerous class winners at national and state shows. Tex-Stein Dairy has been named Premier Breeder and Exhibitor at the State Show of Texas and the Southern Spring National Show numerous times and takes tremendous pride in exhibiting home bred animals. Chad credits his father, Robert Steinberger Sr. as his mentor in the showing. Chad and his wife Stacey reside at the farm and have four sons, Garrett, Gage, Gavin, and Grayson.
