Michael Wolf grew up as the fourth generation on his family dairy, R-E-W Farm, in Lebanon, CT. Through the work that Michael has done with his brother Max and father Marc, R-E-W has been involved with 18 nominated animals including Jr. & Open All-Americans and All-Canadians, and is the home of some household names such as Buckeye, Sever, Maple Dixie, Facebook Paris, Happy Go Lucky, and Charlene. A graduate of the University of Connecticut, and former member of the UConn Dairy Judging team, Michael has a strong background in dairy judging. His achievements include being named high individual in the Guernsey category at both the Harrisburg and World Dairy Expo contests. At the International Collegiate Judging Contest, held during World Dairy Expo, he placed sixth in the Holstein breed and earned All-American honors. Michael thrives in the show ring and has judged events in eight states, with aspirations to expand that number. Having experienced youth show success himself, he is passionate about mentoring the next generation of dairy enthusiasts by judging both breed shows and showmanship competitions. Outside the ring, Michael serves the industry in multiple roles. He works for the Connecticut Department of Agriculture and is the Chief Operating Officer of Wolf Auction Group.
