Tanner Schmaling is the owner/operator of Maple-Leigh Futures located in Delavan, WI. After graduating from UW-River Falls, Schmaling spent five years traveling North America as a professional cattle fitter before coming home to Schmaling Farm Inc., his family's 120 cow Registered Holstein and 1,100 acre crop farm where he farms with his wife Madeline, daughters Haisey and Hollyn, and parents John and Jill. In September of 2017, the family expanded the operation and started Maple-Leigh Futures. The facility houses 100 head of cattle and is known for its premier individualized care for both high genomic and high type cattle; offering an array of services from IVF, conventional flushing, and advanced donor management. Schmaling along with his team specialize in show cattle housing and have cared for and exhibited a number of Grand Champions and have garnered over 60 All American, Jr. All-American, and All-Canadian nominations over their first eight years of business.
